Reseller Partnership Proposal — Workwiz Limited × AvalonERP

Oct 1, 2026 · @Franck Meriin

1. Purpose and parties

Workwiz Limited proposes that AvalonERP, led by Ethan Avalon, resells selected Workwiz software products in the United States, with Workwiz running the product and Ethan running the sales. This proposal is a statement of intent: it opens a non-binding induction period and is not a contract.

The goal. The objective of this partnership is to grow the US user community of each product until it reaches the scale at which the product can be sold to a larger company in its sector in the US. Every target, review and decision in this proposal serves that objective. Ethan is rewarded with 40% of the revenue he generates and, if a product he has grown is sold, a share of its sale price.

Party	Role	Jurisdiction
Workwiz Limited, company no. 04999377, registered office: First Floor, 1 Des Roches Square, Witan Way, Witney, Oxfordshire OX28 4BE, United Kingdom	Product owner, operator and IP holder	England & Wales
AvalonERP, represented by Ethan Avalon [legal entity name (Avalon Enterprise Technologies?), state of registration, registration no. and address TBC]	Commercial partner (referral partner)	United States

All products named in this proposal, including CoreProma, JobsTracker, SuperCars.Tours and WaypointsCreator, are products of Workwiz Limited (UK) and its exclusive property. Nothing in this proposal transfers or licenses any intellectual property to Ethan.

2. Products in scope

The induction period covers CoreProma, JobsTracker, SuperCars.Tours and WaypointsCreator. CoreProma and JobsTracker are the lead products for the US, where they likely have the most potential.

Product	What it does	Status for this partnership	US readiness to confirm
CoreProma	Construction project management SaaS	In scope	English UI, USD pricing, US tax and data terms
JobsTracker	Job and site tracking for trades teams	In scope	USD pricing, US accounting export (QuickBooks)
SuperCars.Tours	Independent guide to supercar driving tours, funded by sponsorship	In scope	US operator listings; US sponsor packages and pricing
WaypointsCreator	Mission planning for DJI drones	In scope	USD pricing, US rules on DJI hardware

US customers use a separate US instance of each product, billed in USD through Stripe. During the induction, payments run through Workwiz's UK Stripe account; a US entity with its own US bank account is set up after the induction. All products are billed in USD to US customers, EUR to European customers and GBP to UK customers. Workwiz may add or withdraw products from the list with 30 days' written notice. Customers already signed keep their service.

CoreProma

Website: coreproma.com

Product. All-in-one construction project management platform. It brings quotes, invoices, documents, site photos, team messaging, site meetings with AI-generated meeting reports, and embodied-carbon tracking into one place, on desktop and mobile. It replaces the spreadsheet, WhatsApp and paper-notebook routine most small builders still use. Live with paying customers.

Target.

- Small construction businesses, general contractors, architects and project managers running 2–10 client projects with 1–10 staff.
- Homeowners managing their own build or renovation.
- Positioned between low-cost single-trade tools and enterprise suites such as Procore, which are too heavy and too expensive for small firms.

Business model. Annual subscription, paid upfront by card, self-serve sign-up with a 7-day free trial.

Plan	Includes	Current list price	US price
Individual	1 project, 5 users	€149 / £129 per year	[TBC in USD]
Professional	5 projects, 10 users per project, multi-project dashboard, carbon tracker	€499 / £429 per year	[TBC in USD]
Enterprise	Unlimited scope, custom set-up	Quoted	Quoted

JobsTracker

Website: jobstracker.work

Product. Field-operations platform for trades firms. Office staff dispatch jobs; engineers clock in and out on site with GPS, sign off safety paperwork, and capture photos, materials and variations from their phone. Timesheets and job costs export straight to accounting. In daily production use with a UK electrical contractor of around 30 engineers.

Target.

- Construction, electrical, mechanical and other trades firms with 10–50 field engineers.
- The buyer is the operations director or office-side project manager who today re-types the same job data into spreadsheets, messaging apps and accounting software.
- Positioned as simpler and cheaper than full field-service suites, with a stronger job-to-invoice workflow than vehicle-tracking tools.

Business model. Monthly subscription per login, plus a one-off onboarding package. Any additional integration is quoted separately.

Item	Price (USD)	Billing
Field worker login	30	Per worker, per month
Van (GPS tracker via API)	30	Per van, per month
Admin / office staff login	50	Per user, per month
Onboarding package	4,500	One-off
Additional integrations	Quoted	Per project

The onboarding package covers set-up of:

- Clients
- Locations and sub-locations
- Current jobs
- Sage or Xero accounting codes
- Vans, connected to their tracker by API key
- Document design template [scope to be discussed]

Prices above are the starting point for the US, to be finalised with Ethan. European customers are billed in EUR and UK customers in GBP.

SuperCars.Tours

Website: supercars.tours

Product. SuperCars.Tours is an independent guide to organised supercar driving tours. It lists tour operators and their upcoming tours, describes each one with the same questions (style, own car or hired car, real prices), and rates every tour on two 0–100 scales: Luxury and Driving. It includes a buyer's guide on how to choose a tour and an events calendar, in English and French. Operators can claim their listing and update it, or sync their whole tour calendar, through an API. Live today with UK and France operators.

Target.

- Supercar owners and enthusiasts choosing an organised driving tour, with their own car or a hired one.
- Tour operators who want an accurate, free listing and an easy way to publish their calendar.

Business model. Free for tour operators and event organisers: listing, claiming and calendar sync cost nothing, and nobody pays to appear or to be rated. Revenue comes from sponsorship sold to businesses that serve supercar owners:

- Supercar finance
- Insurance for supercars and collections
- Paint protection film (PPF) fitters
- Carbon part repair
- Exhaust fitters
- Supercar transport
- Car storage companies
- Other supercar-related services

Sponsorship pricing [TBC]. For this partnership, Ethan's role is to bring US operators and events onto the guide and to sell sponsorship to US supercar service businesses; the revenue share applies to sponsorship revenue he brings in.

WaypointsCreator

Website: waypointscreator.com

Product. Browser-based mission planning for DJI drones. Pilots draw survey grids, orbits and curved flight paths on a map, set camera and gimbal angles per waypoint, preview the flight in 3D over real terrain and buildings with obstacle warnings, then push the mission straight to a DJI RC2 controller or phone. Supports 9 current DJI models. Available in 5 languages.

Target.

- Commercial drone pilots: land surveyors, roof and structure inspectors, construction progress monitoring.
- Real estate photographers, videographers and cinematographers.
- Enterprise teams that need repeatable, precise flights.

Business model. Self-serve monthly or annual subscription, paid online by card.

Plan	Includes	Monthly	Annual
Pro	Unlimited missions, gimbal visualiser, direct push to controller or phone, cloud sync	€20	€197

Plan	Includes	Monthly	Annual
Pro+	Pro plus 3D flight simulation and obstacle detection, priority support	€30	€295

US prices in USD [TBC]. For a low-price self-serve product, the partnership would work through a tracked referral link or partner discount code rather than direct sales [TBC].

3. Roles and responsibilities

Workwiz runs everything technical; Ethan runs everything commercial. Customers contract with and pay Workwiz directly.

Area	Workwiz Limited	Ethan
Hosting, uptime, security, backups	Owns	—
Product development and roadmap	Owns; takes Ethan's market feedback into account	Feeds back customer and market needs
Customer onboarding and account setup	Owns (technical setup)	Introduces and hands over the customer
Technical support (L1–L3)	Owns: AI-automated responses to support requests, backed by a support developer from Workwiz's India team, covering US business hours	Routes any technical query to Workwiz
Prospecting, demos, sales pipeline	Supports with demo environments and material	Owns
Pricing to customers	Sets the US price list	Sells within it; any discount above [d]% needs Workwiz approval
Contracts and invoicing	Customer signs Workwiz terms; Workwiz invoices and collects	Does not sign or invoice on Workwiz's behalf

Area	Workwiz Limited	Ethan
Account management and renewals	Supports	Owns the relationship
Marketing in the US	Provides brand assets and approves usage	Runs local marketing at own cost

Ethan acts as an independent partner, not as an employee or agent of Workwiz, and cannot bind Workwiz to any commitment.

4. Induction period

An induction period running from signature of the NDA until 31 March 2027 (end of Q1 2027) lets both sides test the collaboration with no exclusivity, no minimum commitment and no obligation to sign a contract afterwards.

Objectives

1. Ethan learns the products and can run a demo without Workwiz on the call.
2. Ethan qualifies [10] US prospects and runs at least [3] demos.
3. Both sides confirm the support and handover process works across time zones.
4. Both sides agree the US price list and the revenue-share percentage.
5. Both sides identify which products are worth pursuing in the US market: one, several, all of them, or none.

Ground rules

- Either party can end the induction at any time by email, with no cost or penalty.
- Ethan is not exclusive and has no sales quota. Workwiz may appoint other partners.
- Ethan registers each prospect with Workwiz by email before the first demo. A registered prospect stays Ethan's for [6] months.
- Any customer Ethan signs during the induction earns the revenue share set out in section 5, even if no contract follows.
- Both parties keep each other's information confidential. A short mutual NDA is signed before the induction starts.

Review: a joint review in the second half of March 2027 decides which products to continue with, if any, and whether to sign a contract for them, extend the induction once, or stop.

5. Commercial model

Revenue is split 40/60: Ethan earns 40% and Workwiz keeps 60% of the net revenue Workwiz actually collects from each customer he brings, for [24] months from that customer's first payment.

- Net revenue = amounts invoiced and paid by the customer, excluding sales tax, refunds, chargebacks, payment-processing fees.
- Scope: the 40% applies to everything Ethan sells: subscription fees, one-off setup and onboarding fees, and SuperCars.Tours sponsorship fees. Development and integration work is handled and quoted by Workwiz and is outside the revenue share.
- Paid on cash received, not on invoices issued. No payment on unpaid invoices.
- Payment: monthly statement from Workwiz. All customer payments are collected into Workwiz Limited's UK bank account. Workwiz pays Ethan's share in USD by Wise transfer within [30] days of month end; transfer fees paid by [Workwiz TBC]. AvalonERP raises a monthly invoice to Workwiz for Ethan's share.
- Taxes: each party is responsible for its own taxes. Ethan provides a W-8/W-9 or equivalent as required.
- Duration after exit: if the partnership ends, revenue share on customers already signed continues for [12] months, then stops.
- Rate: 40% from the start of the induction; any change is agreed per product at the March 2027 review.
- Attribution: because customers subscribe online, each sale is credited to Ethan through a personal referral link or partner code in the sign-up flow, or through a prospect he registered by email beforehand. A customer with no link, code or registration is not attributed.
- Reporting: the monthly statement lists each attributed customer, amounts collected and the share due. Ethan can request the supporting Stripe records once a quarter.
- Customer ownership: all customers, their data and their contracts belong to Workwiz, during and after the partnership.

The 40/60 split is reviewed per product at the end of the induction period and then written into the contract. It is designed to evolve as each product grows, for example through higher rates once agreed subscriber or revenue thresholds are reached [model to be defined by Workwiz per product].

6. Targets and simple revenue model

If the US targets below are reached 12 months after the contract starts, the four products bring in about $153,000 a year, and Ethan's 40% share is about $59,100. These figures are illustrative targets to agree together, not forecasts. They use current list prices; US prices are set together with Ethan.

US, 12 months after contract	CoreProma	JobsTracker	WaypointsCreator	SuperCars.Tours
Subscription basis	$499 per company per year (Professional)	$30 per worker, $30 per van, $50 per admin, per month	$20–$30 per pilot per month (average $23)	Sponsors at $3,000 per year [TBC]
Target paying customers	50 companies	5 firms (15 workers, 10 vans, 3 admins each)	100 pilots	8 sponsors
Users	~500 (about 10 per company)	90 logins + 50 vans	100	Free for operators: [20] US operators listed
Recurring revenue per year	$24,950	$54,000	$27,600	$24,000
One-off revenue	—	$22,500 (5 × $4,500 onboarding)	—	—
Card fees (est.)	$800	$2,430 if paid by card; $0 by bank transfer	$1,190	$760
Net revenue	$24,150	$74,070	$26,410	$23,240
Ethan's share (40%)	$9,660	$29,630	$10,560	$9,300

How card fees are estimated. Workwiz bills through its UK Stripe account, where a US card costs 3.15% + 20p (about $0.27) per payment, plus 2% if the payment is converted to another currency (Stripe UK pricing). The table assumes US payments are kept in USD, so no conversion fee. Small monthly payments carry the highest relative fee: about 4.2% on a $23 WaypointsCreator subscription, against about 3.2% on an annual CoreProma payment. JobsTracker onboarding and subscriptions should be invoiced and paid by bank transfer.

Once the US entity is set up after the induction, US payments move to a US Stripe account at 2.9% + 30¢ per payment (Stripe US pricing), a small saving on the figures above. The main gain is receiving USD directly into a US bank account, with no 2% conversion fee.

Threshold per product. After the induction, each product continues only if it is on track for a target agreed at the March 2027 review, set in paying customers and yearly recurring revenue [targets TBC per product].

7. Costs

Workwiz pays all technical costs; Ethan pays his own commercial costs. Neither party reimburses the other unless agreed in writing beforehand.

Workwiz Limited pays	Ethan pays
Hosting and infrastructure (including any US region)	Travel, events and trade shows
Development, maintenance and bug fixes	Local advertising and lead generation
Technical support staff	His own tools, phone, CRM
Demo environments and sales material	Entity set-up, insurance, accountancy in the US
Third-party licences the products rely on	Any sub-agents he chooses to use

8. After the induction: the contract

If both parties want to continue, Workwiz proposes a reseller agreement covering the following terms.

- Revenue-share percentage, calculation basis and payment terms (section 5)

- Products covered and how products are added or withdrawn
- Territory: exclusive for the United States, kept only while the minimum yearly targets are met; exclusivity ends, or passes to the buyer, if Workwiz sells the product
- If exclusive: minimum yearly targets, and loss of exclusivity if missed
- Duration [12 months, renewable] and termination notice [60 days]
- Use of the Workwiz and product brands, and approval of marketing claims
- Confidentiality, non-solicitation of customers and staff
- Data protection: Workwiz as processor of customer data; US privacy obligations
- Liability cap and indemnities; Ethan makes no product promises beyond the published specification
- Governing law and venue [England & Wales]
- Sale reward: if Workwiz sells a product Ethan has actively grown under this agreement, Ethan receives a percentage of the net sale price of that product, paid on completion of the sale. This proposal agrees the principle only; the percentage is set per product once that product's objectives are agreed. The reward applies to sales completed while the agreement is in force or within [12] months after it ends. On completion, the 40% revenue share on that product ends.
- No term of the agreement restricts Workwiz from selling, licensing or partnering any product or the company with a third party.
- Competing products: AvalonERP is free to continue its Odoo business, but does not promote a product that competes directly with a Workwiz product to a prospect registered under this agreement, and does not use Workwiz product knowledge to build a competing product.
- US customer terms: Workwiz publishes US-ready terms of service and privacy policy before the first US customer signs.
